SORROW IN BRITAIN.

Intense Grief Everywhere Over the Victoria Disaster.

Anxious Throngs and Pitiful Scenes at the Admiralty Office.

Vice-Admiral Tryon Died After Being Taken from the Water.

LONDON, June 24.—It would be hard to describe the feeling that prevails everywhere in the Kingdom in regard to the calamity that has befallen the country through the loss of the battleship Victoria, of Tripoli, Syria, and the drowning of so many of her officers and crew.

Sorrow for the dead and sympathy for the relatives and friends of those who went down with the ship are widespread.

In some quarters a certain amount of indignation is expressed that such an accident should occur. But so far as known there is no foundation for this feeling.

The lack of details, caused by the remoteness of the scene of the disaster, allows of no expression of definite opinion, and full reports of the accident are eagerly awaited.

It is not believed that a full story of the sad affair can be obtained until the arrival at Malta of the Camperdown, which ran into the Victoria, or of some other vessel belonging to the British Mediterranean Squadron, conveying survivors from the lost ship.

A special staff of officials was kept on duty all night at the Admiralty Office. Whitehall for the purpose of receiving any official despatches that might arrive. The only information received, however, was the names of some of those who had been saved, and that only came to hand at 6.30 o'clock this morning.

The meantime an immense crowd gathered about the Admiralty Office eager to grasp any scrap of information. The crowd was many and faced women and children and young girls whose husbands, fathers or sweethearts were members of the ill-fated crew.

Hundreds of persons living in the provinces who had relatives or friends on board the Victoria, could not wait at home for the receipt of further details of the disaster, and they were seen in the streets of London in the belief that at some time they would be able to learn whether their loved ones had escaped or gone down with the ship.

For the benefit of those far from the bulletin boards men read aloud the names of the saved. It was painful to see with what eagerness and intensity the people listened. When women found that the names of their relatives were not on the list they were listening to, they turned away with a look of despair and dejection.

Others were more violent in their demonstrations of sorrow and grief. They wept and wailed and some were so overcome by the sight of the disaster that they fainted away.

It is probable that in the course of a few days a number of the bodies will float out from the hull, and all these will be watched for and given burial on land.

Funerals are being started in different parts of the country to aid those who have lost their supporters. Among the prominent subscribers to the fund started by the Lord Mayor of London is Queen Victoria, who has donated £10,000.

A despatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company from a state states that the Victoria was struck on the bow by the Camperdown, and that the latter vessel was damaged.

BIG BOMB EXPLODES.

Seven Men Hurt at Manhattan Beach Amphitheatre.

One of Them Is Said to Be Fatally Injured.

They Were Helping Prepare for To-Night's Spectacle.

MANHATTAN BEACH, CONY ISLAND, June 24.—At 1.40 this afternoon an explosion occurred in the amphitheatre at Manhattan Beach, which is to open to-night with a presentation of the spectacle, "Battle of Vicksburg."

Seven men were injured, one perhaps fatally. The injured are: JOSEPH PURCELL, thirty years old, married, of 48 Fifth avenue, Brooklyn; face partially blown off; arms and legs badly bruised and burned. He was taken to Flatbush Hospital; will probably die.

JAMES EGAN, seventeen years old, Sheepshead Bay, bruised about legs and body and sent home.

HENRY HENDERSON, aged twenty-five, badly burned about face and arms; sent to hospital.

JOSEPH LAWLER, aged thirty, badly burned about arms; sent to hospital.

FRANK HART, twenty-three years old, badly injured and sent home.

SYDNEY HAMM, of Sheepshead village, bruised about the body by flying missiles; sent home.

Purcell and Henderson and Lawlor were loading an iron bomb about a foot square with an explosive paste or clay. Purcell stood over the bomb with a rammer packing the explosive into the iron casing.

Without warning, the bomb exploded, blowing Purcell into the street nearly a road away.

The lowering clouds that all morning threatened rain were dispelled by a brisk southwest wind that dried everything up as crisp as a shaving.

A better day for the Derby was never planned, and as early as 9 o'clock it seemed as if a majority of the local sports had possession of the track.

A change of jockeys was ordered for Hampton and the other horses. The excitement in the betting rings was tremendous.

Corrigan's arrest was caused by Edward Corrigan, who claimed he was under contract to ride for him.

The first race was the opening contest was started at 2.45 o'clock with the pretty grounds were fairly crowded with an enthusiastic audience of both sexes.

The races were divided into heats owing to the great number of entries. A pleasant feature of the day was the appearance of Arthur A. Zimmerman, who arrived from Europe on the steamer Paris to-day. The officials were: Referee, Dr. G. Carlisle Brown; Judges, F. P. Pratt, R. M. Sanger, C. A. Sheehan; Scorers, Theodore F. Merceles, Jr.; Announcer, Fred W. Burns.

The second trial heats were eligible only to first and second men in previous trial heats. The first heat was won by Truman Schenck, 2m. 45s. The second heat was won by Ray Dawson, 3m. 21.5s; third, won by G. Gillespie, 3m. 4.5s.

The final heat in the one-mile safety handicap was won by Carl Hess, an American, in 5m. 4.5s. The second heat was won by H. C. Wheeler, Orange A. C. The referee decided that notwithstanding the fact that the one-mile safety handicap was not come within the time limit, it was a race and waived the time limit.

The second trial heat in the two-mile handicap was won by E. L. Blauvelt, Elizabeth A. C.; time, 5m. 2.5s; second, Phil Hardier, Passaic A. C. The third heat was won by W. E. Murphy, of Brooklyn; time, 5m. 12.5s; U. S. Paige, Kings County Wheelmen.

The fourth heat was won by C. W. Price, Montclair Wheelmen; time, 5m. 4.5s; second, G. A. Beckwith, Tourists' Cycling Club.
